

an angel is someone you feel like you've known forever, even though you've just met.